2013 LaRue Rice-Spivak Vineyard Pinot Noir

The 2013 LaRue Rice-Spivak Vineyard Pinot Noir is from a six acre vineyard south of the town of Sebastopol. The soils on this vineyard are Goldridge sandy loam along with volcanic ash. The Goldridge is very common for the area, while the volcanic ash is quite unusual. This distinctive soil profile along with the clonal selections of Dijon and Swan create a wine that is balanced with good acidity, fresh aromas, and unmistakable minerality.

- Production: 125 cases
- Aged for 20 months in French oak (40% new)
- Alcohol: 12.5%

Tasting Notes

This wine bursts from the glass with gorgeous red fruit aromas of cranberry, plum, and raspberry intermingled with savory notes of cinnamon and cardamom. There are hints of jasmine, sweet sage, and peach blossoms. The palate is mouth-filling with flavors of bright cherry, minerality, and stone fruit along with notes of caramelized orange peel. The acid in this wine provides structure and a lingering finish.

Vinous by Antonio Galloni

February 2016

"Over the years, Wilson's Pinots seem to have become more precise, nuanced, and articulated, all qualities that come through loud and clear with these current releases. As always, Wilson's light touch translates into wines of grace and restraint."

"Her wines have a certain transcendent aura that reminds you why you fell in love with Pinot Noir in the first place."

Winemakers to Watch 2013: Katy Wilson "Even in a lineup of top California Pinots, Wilson's wines tend to stand out for their balance of juiciness and tension. They are friendly, but highly structured, wines."

Our Story

LaRue. To some a beautiful name, to one woman a pesky given name that she never cared for. Veona LaRue Newell was a very special woman. She was a woman who lived through the Depression with four small children. She was the great-grandmother of owner and winemaker Katy Wilson. She never let a thing get her down and stayed witty even at 97 years old. She was and continues to be an inspiration.

Veona LaRue was a firm believer that if you put your nose to the grindstone, then you will be able to accomplish almost anything. With her as a role model, Katy worked her way from being a small town farm girl to earning her Bachelor's Degree in both Wine & Viticulture and Agricultural Business from Cal Poly in San Luis Obispo. She then went on to work at wineries such as Joseph Phelps, Torbreck, Craggy Range, Flowers and Kamen. During her time at Flowers, she fell in love with the Sonoma Coast and truly developed a passion for making pinot noir. It is with this passion that she has made LaRue Wines.
